

■ Piano company executives John Beckingham, left, with Chris Willcox, Eddie Griffin and Peter Freke. Picture: Martin Perry

Piano accolade

A REVIVED piano firm has struck the right note to scoop a top music award.

The Woodchester Piano Company's Elmore model has been voted the Best Upright Piano for 1997 by the Music Industries Association.

The accolade has been won against competition from pianos from all over the world.

The award will be presented at London's Cafe Royal on Sunday by minister for the arts Mark Fisher.

A spokesman for the company said the range of pianos made at Woodchester represented the culmination of generations of piano making.

"We already export to 24 countries and we are certain this award will result in many new countries being added."

Woodchester Pianos was launched in 1994 after a management buy-out of the old Bentley Pianos factory. Piano making has been carried on in the village since 1911.

7/10/97

■ Piano company executives John Beckingham, left, with Chris Willcox, Eddie Griffin and Peter Freke.

Picture: Martin Perry

Piano accolade

A REVIVED piano firm has struck the right note to scoop a top music award.

The Woodchester Piano Company's Elmore model has been voted the Best Upright Piano for 1997 by the Music Industries Association.

The accolade has been won against competition from pianos from all over the world.

The award will be presented at London's Cafe Royal on Sunday by minister for the arts Mark Fisher.

A spokesman for the company said the range of pianos made at Woodchester represented the culmination of generations of piano making.

"We already export to 24 countries and we are certain this award will result in many new countries being added."

Woodchester Pianos was launched in 1994 after a management buy-out of the old Bentley Pianos factory. Piano making has been carried on in the village since 1911.

7/10/97