

LUNCH-TIME!

Princess Elizabeth donned gumboots yesterday to walk round New Grounds, Glos., home of the Severn Wildfowl Trust. She was escorted by the Director, Cmdr. Peter Scott, and helped him to feed geese that rushed up to eat from her hand. But the visit was very nearly spoiled by a low-flying plane that scattered the wildfowl just as the Princess arrived. (See pictures of New Grounds, middle pages.)

Princess Elizabeth watches
Lord Scott feed geese at 5:15 p.m.

